

*Help us better understand the current landscape of schools of nursing and social work by completing our needs assessment survey!
This survey is open to everyone.*

What Is It?

NORC and its partners have created an online survey to assess the needs of schools of social work and nursing faculty/educators, practitioners, and students focused on integrating adolescent substance use screening, brief intervention, and referral to treatment (SBIRT) education into nursing and social work curricula.

Who Can Participate?

This opportunity is open to all faculty/educators, practitioners and students in schools of nursing and social work.

How To Participate?

Access the survey using the link below. Your participation is voluntary and all answers are confidential.

Please complete it by September 15th, 2015.

Your participation in this survey will help to shape efforts to integrate adolescent SBIRT education into nursing and social work curricula. We appreciate your participation!

Please contact SBIRTeam@norc.org with any questions or concerns.

Thank you!
